For the past few nights boxcars in the Southern yards have been bur-glarized. Officer Colley decided Wednesday to hide between some cars and keep a vigil for prowlers. Two negroes approached a boxcar from the direction of Marietta street.

One negro stopped several feet from the car as if to watch for any one who might interfere. The other negro broke the seal and slid back the door. As he started to enter the car the officer ordered him to put up his hands. Instead of obeying, the negro advanced on the officer with a heavy piece of iron, nearly two feet long, known to railroaders as a brake shoe key. Backing away, Officer Colley fired at the negro twice and then called an ambulance.

Fear Expressed That the Transport May Not Make Port Unassisted - Cutters Go to Aid.

New York, January 11 .- Already so attered by waves that her safety under ordinary conditions was feared for, the U. S. army transport, Crook, was reported late Wednesday as run-300 miles out New York. Fear was expressed at army transport headquarters that the Crook might not make port unassisted for the ship was doing only 7 or 8 knots under her own steam and the heavy seas threatened at any moment to again bash in the steel plates which were calked and cemented earlier in the day.

Members of the crew, exhausted by their efforts at the pumps, were being relieved by some of the 942 American Rhine soldiers being brought back on the transport. Radio messages from Captain Joseph Reppa of the Crook said that the four feet of water in No. 1 hold had been reduced to a few inches and that the tempor ary calkings between the steel plates were still holding against the sea. The Transport Saint Mihlel, rushed to the rescue when the first S. O. S.

calls came from the Crook, was reported as standing alongside, and the cutters Tampa and Ossipee joined the escort to aid in picking up survivors if the Crook sinks. The vessel, scheduled to arrive

Thursday afternoon, cannot make port before Friday at the earliest, transport officials said. The storm into which the Crook was running Wednesday night was forecast by the weather bureau as of "greatest intensity" centering directly in the path of the laboring transport.

The ministry is reported to be absolutely opposed to any Franco-British alliance under which France would surrender a single franc in reparations claims in return for what is described as "problematical assistance" in the event of aggression from Germany.

Lloyd George's memorandum, in which he repeats that the reconstruction of Europe must have precedence over that of France, and that the allies must wait "two or three years" before arriving at a financial settle ment with Germany, merely adds fuel to the flames. French public and official opinion, stirred up by the Clemencists and the militaristic factions, places French reparations before any such alliance.

For the last ten days personal representatives of Hughes and Balfour have been politely and informally urging the Japanese to meet the Chinese and settle the Shantung controversy. Yesterday the Japanese partially yielded and asked the Chinese for a conference, which was finally postponed to this morning and is now in session. The Japanese limited the subject of conversation this morning to docks, mines and other property on the Shantung peninsula. They will not discuss the railroad—and the railroad, of course—is the crux and center of the whole Shantung dispute. "I saw no reason for making it publie because the crime was not com-mitted at Gievres," he added. "I di-rected that nobody should attend but a certain number of witnesses."

while efforts were being made to keep the hanging at daylight secret. Mr. Fyffe said, "the news got around by noon."

"I never heard of a lynching and I certainly would have heard of it had it occurred," he added.

Captain Joseph D. Hahn, now at Camp Benning, Ga., who was stationed at Gievres from March, 1918, to July 20, 1919, said he heard of no illegal executions at that point. During his service there he only knew of the one legal hanging.

"A witness, Harry W. Segal, of Dorchester, Mass., has testified that he saw you and others take two negro soldiers out and execute them." Captain Hahn was informed. "Is that true?" he was asked.

"It's absolutely untrue," said Captain Hahn, adding that he could not recall Segal or any incident which might have caused him to make such a statement.

The provost officer at Gievres, Oscar P. Cole, of Berlin, N. H., who was stationed there from April, 1918, to June, 1919, testified he never heard of the alleged lynching of the negro there.

An effort was made to direct the votes of the electorate in Michigan.

"It is not Senator Newberry who is under indictment. It is the republican party. We of the opposition have the right to carry the republican verdict before the American people. The question is whether you will obey the election laws that have been placed on the statute books."

Senator Norris, one of the republicans opposed to Newberry, was elaborately sarcastic in discussing the case.

"Why, if we don't confirm the sale." declared.

"Why, if we don't confirm the sale of this seat," said Norris, "we may have poor men in the senate. We might even have farmers here even farmers with whiskers—whiskers that would put in the shade those that adorn the face of our illustrous leader (Lodge).

"But our illustrious leaders have decreed the sale must be confirmed."

Norris told the democrats the republicans cannot be frightened with talk of defeat. "Lame ducks" will be cared for, he said, if any seats are lost through votes to seat Newberry.

"As for poor men," Norris continued, "if they can't raise the ante for the senatorial poker game, they can get in a game of craps up the alley. A poor man can run for constable, or even for justice of the pease."

Their original position on naval disarmament was that before they would consent to cut down their fleet, they must be assured against the possibility of attack from naval bases at Guam or in the Philippines. or this treaty the Hawaiian islands and the islands off the coast of Alaska should be considered part of the mainland of the United States. In other words, we were to be allowed to fortify and build naval bases in Hawaii and Alaska, so far as we desired.

Whether the new Japanese delay and reference to Tokio covered any ulterior purpose, is not certain. For days the Japanese have been spreading the report that there would be no nine-power treaty of Far Eastern affairs. Yesterday the American insistence on some such agreements was made public. Almost instantly came the Japanese demand for revision of the naval treaty, which probably means a week's delay in reaching further decisions.

Moultrie, Ga., January 11 .- (Special.)—The board of county commissioners late today set Friday as the date of the hearing of the charges brought against J. O. Stewart, chief of the Colquitt county police, by certain taxpayers of the county. The petitioners urge the removal of Stewart on the ground that he is alleged to have been a participant in the lynching of John Henry Williams, a negro, who was burned near Autrey-ville last summer, after his conviction of the murder of Lorena Wilkes, a white girl. Stewart was one of the special guards sworn to help protect the negro, while he was on trial. It also is alleged that Stewart perjured himself in the trial of two cases against moonshiners here last year.

Simultaneously, it was stated that a large number of witnesses had been summoned to testify in substantiation of the charges brought against the officer at the hearing before the commissioners. The grand jury will convene in Moultrie Monday in regular session, and it is likely that that body will start an investigation of the lynching of Williams. The grand fury that served shortly after the burning of the negro went into the case, but was unable to get sufficient evidence to bring a formal charge against anyone.

INSPECT BENNING Poor Georgia Boys

Columbus, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—J. Mayhew Wainwright, assistant secretary of war, and Major General James G. Harbord, deputy chief of staff of the United States army, today inspected the United States infantry school at Camp Benning, near Columbus.

Benning, near Columbus.

Every phase of activity at the infantry school, living conditions and facilities for recreation on the part of officers and men are being carefully noted by the inspecting officials. They saw the men at work and at play, went through the class rooms and lecture halls, inspected living quarters, and during the day, made an automobile trip over the rifle ranges and other sections of the reservation, studying particularly the varied terrain which admits of military operations of any character, on almost any scale desired.

ANOTHER POULTRY SALE TO BE HELD

IN DUBLIN TODAY Dublin, Ga., January 11,-(Special.)—The new scheme of holding 'poultry sales" is becoming popular in Dublin and Laurens county, and hardly a week passes now that sales are not held. Thursday a sale will be held at the chamber of commerce, and already scores of chickens, geese, guineas and turkeys, and eggs are of-fered. There are no charges for bandling the chickens and eggs. The chamber of commerce provides a place and an "auctioneer" for the occasion merely o enable fanciers of the city and farm ers of the county to dispose of their products at the best possible prices obtaining in the markets on these days. #### OUTSIDE EVIDENCE IN PAR CLEARANCE HEARING IS BARRED

By a ruling of Judge Beverly D. Evans in the hearing of the par clearance controversy it was held that testimony pertaining to action of Federal Reserve banks outside of the sixth district, was irrelevant, at the Wednesday session of the United States district court. No indication as to when a decision would be reached was seen.

John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain, and internationally known lawyer, represented the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta in the argument Wednesday.

The question before the court was as to whether testimony from outside of the sixth district would be admissible. At the time the argument as to the admissibility of testimony was brought up, T. C. Long, an Oregon banker, was on the stand. The decision of the court was reserved pending further hearing.

Constructive Effort In Commercial Lines Predicted by Candler

With the two years' period of defla-tion completed, the present year will be a period for constructive effort in commercial lines, according to the opinion of Asa G. Candler, president of the Central Bank and Trust cor-

Athens, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—The Gainesville Midland railroad will be offered to the Georgia Railway and Power company to be run as an electric line, according to the plan worked out by the merchants' retail association, and which will be submitted to the chamber of commerce at its meeting Thursday afternoon.

It is known that the chamber of commerce favors turning the Gainesville railway, which faces being junked, into an electric line, and members of that organization had considered a plan whereby the company would be turned over to the Central of Georgia company. It was learned, however, from an authoritative source tonight that the commerce body is favorably inclined toward the plan of placing the company in the hands of the Georgia Railway and Power company. It is believed the plan will be passed.

Territory Covered. Territory Covered.

If the plan conceived by the merchants materializes, the electric line will extend to Tallulah Falls. The Georgia Railway and Power company has power lines along the route, and it is thought that it would not be difficult for the trolley interurban line to be completed. The Tallulah railway, which is at present operated by the Southern, can be had for a negligible sum, it is said, and the Athens citizens favor the Georgia Railway and Power company taking over this route, thus completing the circuit to Tallulah.

After reading the prepared "defense" address delivered by Truman Newberry before the senate one may readily understand why the senator and his stand-pat sup porters insisted in advance that he should not be called upon to answer any questions from the floor.

It is not to be wondered at that he shied from interrogations, both on the floor of the senate and when the contest was being heard by a senate committee: for his "defense" was so lame as to be pa-

Newberry did not deny that his friends and supporters conducted in his behalf a boodle campaign in Michigan; that, as charged, not less than $200,000 was expended in that campaign: or that he was tried and convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for violation of the corrupt practice law, the verdict and sentence subsequently being set aside by the supreme court on a technicality.

He said that he personally contributed only $1,500 to the republican campaign fund; that he spent not a red cent to help elect himself, and that if anybody else put out money to elect him he did not know it, by whom it was contributed or to what particular purpose it was applied.

If Newberry can retain a seat in the senate after such a miserable showing as he and his friends have made, all pretense at safeguarding the ballot-box may as well be discarded. If he can get into and retain his seat in the senate, any man can-provided he has the purchase price!

John Sharp Williams truthfully says that "if there is nothing wrong in the Michigan case, then the floodgates might as well be opened."

ANOTHER CREAMERY.

A new creamery has just been put in operation in Dublin, Ga. The plant began taking cream, both sweet and sour, from the farmers last Monday, and the manufacture of butter is scheduled to start at once.

The opening of this creamery, says the news dispatch-

"means a market for cream not only from Laurens county, but for some fifteen or twenty countles around Dublin, which has most excellent and to the owners of property train schedules for shipping milk and cream to the creamery.' proved.

There is no greater community developer than is an enterprise of this kind: and the most gratifying thing about the announcement from Dublin is that this creamery is only one of several similar institutions that have been put into operation in Georgia within a year.

That no state surpasses Georgia in point of natural adaptability to the dairy industry has been fully demonstrated; and that the industry is in no danger of overcrowding is proven by the neverfailing demand for dairy products throughout the country, also by the tremendous amount of the output of northern, eastern and western creameries that is annually imported for consumption in

Georgia One dairy firm alone, in Missouri, ships into Georgia every year an average of $700,000 worth of its products! Not only should we be producin all of our own cream, butter and cheese, but we should be supplying other states and foreign countries, so great are our natural advantages as a "dairying state." This creamery was established by the business men of Dublin just as every similar enterprise that has been instituted in this state has been backed by the business men and bankers of the comity it was intended to serve ort can be established.

The development of such enter prises is a problem that is strictly for the bankers and business men of the community to work out.

The farmers cannot be expected to do it: for if they guarantee to supply the cream for the creamery's operation that is all they can easonably be expected to do! Bankers and business men should be glad of an opportunity to finance and provide such facilities for the handling of farm products for they mean more money for the farmers, and that means more money for the banks, and Out of the mist that means more money for the merchants. Such co-operation makes for community prosperity all 'round.

What has been done in Dublin. in Columbus, in Rome, in Ashburn, in Atlanta and elsewhere should be emulated by other comnunities, and the result would be better farming, richer land, more prosperous conditions in the cities and towns as well as in the rural etter contented farmers.

This done, it would not be long intil the people of every county in Georgia would feel like following the example of the community of southwestern Alabama which recently erected a monument expressive of its gratitude to the boll weevil!

TWO UNTIMELY DEATHS. The untimely deaths of Mrs. Clem R. Harris and Remsen P. King, both occurring during the current week, are received with universal sorrow in Atlanta.

Mrs. Harris was the embodiment of benevolence, love, and womanly tenderness. There was never a woman in Atlanta whose The fire's singin' to you every day activities were more characteristic of the Christian spirit than were those of this noble woman who in the prime of life was suddenly taken from the community in which she has wielded such a helpful and uplifting influence.

But as sad as was the death of Mrs. Harris, that of Remsen King, occurring under peculiarly tragic that it was entirely unexpected and that it struck a fine young man just as he was entering upon the threshold of a business career. after returning from splendid service to his country in the World War.

Mr. King was the son of the late Porter King, former mayor of Atlanta and for many years one of its most highly esteemed citizens. His mother has for many years taken a leading part in the women's activities of the city, and the heart of the entire community will go out to her in the affliction which she is called upon to bear, Just why these things happen, God only knows. But since the beginning of time, strong men and strong women have been stricken in the midst of useful service, and so it will be until the end of time. while the philosophy of such fate does not lessen the sorrow of friends, nor assuage the grief of relatives, there is much to be learned in the lesson of such lives. While the philosophy of such earned in the lesson of such lives.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

upon the arms conference, as a whole, than Dr. Chung Hui Wang, of the Chinese delegation. He is chief justice of the supreme court of China, and mot only a great lawyer, but a great statesman and a great diplomat. Seeing him in action at the conapartments, and hearing him speak on two occasions in Washington, once from a presbyterian pulpit, I have been impressed not only with his great mental force, but with his Christian character, and with the high ideals of international amity that he holds.

IN PARALYSIS.

There is a legend that Annette Kellerman was a cripple in childhood and overcame her disability by perservering exercise in the water. Many subjects of muscle paresis (partial or incomplete paralysis) have found that they can command and control the muscles better in water. Remember that any muscular action in arm, leg or trunk involves transmission of an impulse through the governing nerve and the portion of the spinal column that has been damaged in infantile paralysis. Mental abstraction or concentration may have considerable influence upon the efficiency of this nerve muscle mechannasm. Everybody knows how distraction of attention will at once slow down a person's walk, for example. Although the general rule that a layman shouldn't try to become too familiar with his in'ards holds good as for the loose insides, it is a fact that some intimacy with the anatomy of one's frame has a rather wholesome influence. Thus one who knows precisely what the diaphragm is and does can work that muscle more effectively than even a better developed indicisely what the diaphragm is and does can work that muscle more effectively than even a better developed individual who is ignorant of anatomy. Singing teachers and singers understand that. There is, then, a kind of self-consciousness which is good for our health. If introspection and morbid imaginings from too much almanac works havoc with the health of the credulous, that is because these misguided folk just poke about and dabble with their in ards. There is no such influence felt by doctors, who lege in Shanghai. He speaks English with a fluency that is remarkable and he knows international politics just like he knows the laws of his land as interpreted by his own court.

It was my pleasure to talk for half an hour with this distinguished member of the Chinese delegation, and he ber of the Chinese delegation, and he told me more about China, her customs, the gradual evolution of the ideals of Christian statesmanship—the aspirations of the ancient but newly reborn government of China, the steady march of western progress in his country, the greed for education, and the longing for that happiness born of national contentment and prosperity—more about inviting allurations. no such influence felt by doctors, who boldly take the in'ards out and study them. Nor are nurses injured in health and happiness by the knowledge of the interior they acquire in their training—provided they are well; It has been found that victims of the characteristic paresis of locomotor ataxia are able to accomplish more in the way of re-education of the muscles if they follow out their daily exercises while blindfolded. This merely removes a source of distraction of the attention from the exercises. It was by blindfolding patients that Dr. W. J. M. A. Maloney, of New York, was able to bring about prosperity—more about inviting, allur-ing, almost altruistic China, than I had ever heard of or read of before in all my life.

This is partially accounted for, according to the "Survey," by a seasonal reaction in certain lines, su as textiles and automobiles, and in other lines, such as coal and transportation, by the overestimation of Oc-

The general result of November conditions appeared to be stabilization. This tendency was felt especially in textiles, metals, building construction and its related industries, and retail sales. It was also manifested in price movements, employment conditionand in railroad transportation.

Figures on November production indicate increased activity over October in metals, clothing, paper and glass. On the other hand, production for November slackened among the food-stuffs, tobacco and fuels, while an irregular condition existed in the con-struction industries,

All commodities in the building me terial, clothing, tobacco and foodstuff groups were being produced in greater volume than the 1913 average, except pork products, which were only 1 per cent below. The metals were all considerably below the pre-war basis in spite of good increases during November, while the fuels were divided, with petroleum and by-product coke far above the pre-war average, the coals slightly below and beehive coke far below. Copper and beehive coke were produced at less than 20 per cent of their pre-war rate.

Stocks of commodities at the end

Stocks of commodities at the end of November were, in general, slightly larger than in 1919. The largest ly larger than in 1919. The largest relative stocks were those of corn and coal, both more than five times as large, due partly to seasonal variation. Increases of from 50 to 100 per cent occurred in wheat and cotton seed oil, both largely seasonal increases, and in zinc. cement, face brick and petroleum. Outside of the seasonal decrease in meats all the de-

The cotton crop turned out to be considerably larger than earlier estimates, but 36 per cent less than the pre-war average. Imports of raw cotpre-war average. Imports of raw cotton during November were the heaviest since March, 1920, but exports slumped over 25 per cent from the high mark made in October. There was a slight increase in the number of active spindles and an increase of about 61 per cent in the consumption of cotton, to the highest monthly figure since June, 1920.

Late reports received by the department of commerce indicate that the textile business during December slackened since November. This is only partly due to "between season" duliness. General world economic conditions and the lack of purchasing power among the farmers of the middle west are stated to be the chief . . . .

Wheat receipts, shipments and exports declined in November in response to a seasonal movement, and the production of wheat flour also declined. The visible supply continued to increase and tree almost 50

Corn movement in the terminal markets also declined and the visible supply started to decline from the pre-vious month's peak. The whole corn movement, however, was considerably larger than in November, 1920.

Car loadings of all grains declined 25 per cent in November and total exports of grains were 30 per cent less than in October.

Receipts, shipments and slaughte of cattle declined perceptibly from both October, 1921, and November. 1920. The 1921 totals were below the previous year in every case. Ex-ports of beef products Iollowed the

On the whole there is no getting away from the basic fact that under reases, and in the control of the seasonal decrease in meats all the declines from 1919 were very small.

o'clock, to which 400 persons are invited, final plans for the beginning of the Presbyterian campaign Sunday for the support of Christian education, will be made, and the work of organizing the city completed.

All the officials of the Presbyterian churches in the city and prominent Presbyterians are expected to attend this dinner. Rev. I. S. McElroy, of Columbus, chairman of the executive committee on education, of synod of Georgia, is expected to speak. Other speakers will include John A. Sibley and Dr. J. S. Lyons, of Atlanta.

Another point that will be stressed by each speaker will be the fact that the Presbyterian church will soon be far behind other churches in the matter of Christian education unless all members of the denomination heed the synod's call for support and grasp this opportunity to redeem the failures of the past in supporting schools of the church.

After the speeches are concluded a complete program for the campaign will be made for this city. Teams in each church will be organized. Every-thing will be made ready for the in-tensive campaign of the coming week.

SPANISH COALITION

CABINET RESIGNS

Madrid, January 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—The coalition cabinet, headed by Antonio Maura as premier and minister of justice, resigned today as a result of the bitter political strife which has been prevalent in Spain for a long time. Marked opposition lately had been shown to the conduct of the ministry of war by Senor de La Clerva and the ministry of the St. Louis Americans, who was en route to the south today. Mobile, Ala., and Lake Charles, La., were on his itinerary.

DINNER PLANNED Johnson Causes BARKER IS ELECTED Stir By Silence BY PRESBYTERIANS In Senate Fight

Hiram Fails to Rally to Aid of Colleagues in Newberry Storm.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.

Washington, January 11.-(By

Washington, January 11.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Perhaps no incident in recent years in the senate has created so much comment as the failure of Senator Johnson, of California—"Hell Roarin' Hiram" as he loves to be called—to appear on the scene to aid his progressive colleagues in their fight on Senator Newberry of Michigan.

He was counted as one of those certain to vote for the expulsion of the "$200,000 senator," and so certain was Senator Borah that he would show up in due season that his tabulations always showed Johnson as poled against the accused.

Johnson has been easily the "bell weather" of the progressives.

To aspire to the leadership in the United States, to reach that goal and then to retain the honor, is an accomplishment rare to the new arrivals. But with Johnson the conditions were different from those under which others labored.

He had been the candidate for the vice presidency on the bull moose ticket in 1912. He was known throughout the country. In the presidential fight of 1916 he was given credit for the election of Woodrow Wilson, because of his absolute control in California, and because he frowned on the candidacy of Charles E. Hughes.

Lead Fight on Treaty.

Lead Fight on Treaty.

He came into the senate and assumed a leadership during the fight on the Versailles treaty. Then he became a candidate for the presidency in the last presidential primaries and again toured the country, acquainting the voters with the "Hell-Roarin' Hiram."

toured the country, acquainting the voters with the "Hell-Roarin' Hiram." Johnson was in the ranks of the leaders then, a man feared somewhat by the regular republicans in the senate. John Carson, in today's Baltimore Evening Sun, attempts to solve the problem. He says:

"What has happened to Johnson is perhaps a mystery to those who are not in daily touch with the situation in congress, but it is no mystery to his former close associates. Johnson has gradually slipped from his place of power until now, when the Newberry case and his absence present conditions which may cause him to lose prestige forever, unless he joins the ranks of the "regulars" and aspires to leadership and reward there.

"The waning power of Johnson goes back to the republican national convention. The fight Johnson had made in the primaries gave him considerable recognition. Before the convention in Chicago the word went out that he would have to be reckoned with, especially in the fear that he would make a fight on the floor of the convention. That hour of trial came and some of his friends went to him to take the fight on the convention floor. He was urged to revive the and some of his friends went to him to take the fight on the convention floor. He was urged to revive the old progressive corps. But Johnson did not carry on; his expected fight failed to materialize; his disappointed friends turned to Washington with the story that "Johnson was through."

Johnson was last heard from in Washington without the story that "Johnson was last heard from in the progression of the story when the story when the story that "I washington when President Harding." BAXTER KILLING CASE
IN HANDS OF JURY

Chattanooga, Tenn., January 11.—
The case against Charles Baxter, charged with killing Blevins Downey, at the former's home in North Chattanooga several months ago, was placed in the hands of a jury in the criminal court late this afternoon.

Baxter testified that Downey came to his home and expressed the intention of killing him and that he shot first in self-defense.

Johnson was last heard from in Washington when President Harding made his announcement about the probability of creating an association of nations. He called at the white house shortly after that announcement was made, and it was said he was seeking information so that he might discuss the subject while he was in to a statement by him, he has been unheard of in Washington.

The political gossip in Washington is that Johnson is anxious to return to the senate and that he is planning to carry the California primaries next shot first in self-defense.

He also said that Downey had often spring. Just now his chief supportspring. Just now his chief supporter, a newspaper owner in California, last assaulting, in a half-heatred way, the Harding administration, the work of the conference on limitation of armament, the fight for Senator Newberry and the proposal for an association of nations. When this assault began, an echo from Johnson was expected, but it did not come, except in the announcement that Johnson held that the four-power treaty on the Pacific demanded serious study and consideration.

Commerce, according to Frank Weldon, acting assistant secretary of the local chambes organization was received, acting assistant secretary of the local chamber of the local chamber of the Georgia Railway and Power company by people from every section of the country, and that many announcement that Johnson held that the four-power treaty on the Pacific demanded serious study and consideration.

Can Johnson be defeated in Calt-fornia in the senatorial primaries? His friends and those best acquainted with friends and those best acquainted with conditions in the state do not believe that he can, regardless of the course he pursues. But there are others who insist that the Harding administration has a candidate in view to whom support would be thrown in case Johnson continued to be an obstruction in the path of the administration. The candidate mentioned is well known; he had one political tussle with Johnson and lost.

Whatever there may be to all of this, the fact remains Johnson left his progressive colleagues in the lurch in the Newberry fight.

Quality First and Last and -An Honest Price For It

There are two factors in every transaction between buyer and seller-"How good is it?" and "How much does it cost?"

And these two questions define two markets that are wide apart and are opposite. They are called "Quality" and "Price."

Taking it for granted that the manufacturer and retail dealers are honest, all other things being equal-Quality cannot be sold on a competitive basis, just as it is impossible to sell the "price" of an article on a quality basis.

Therefore a merchant can build his business either upon a quality or price basis. In our business we build upon Quality and merited

Police Believe They Have Made Valuable Haul in Arresting R. L. Sissions and Leroy Lawson.

Two .45 caliber automatics were discovered Wednesday night on the person of R. L. Sissions, 20 years old, of 131 Jones avenue, and Leroy Lawson, of 444 Simpson street, while they were enjoying a soda drink in the Jackson drug store, corner of Marietta and Broad streets. The police say Sissions resembles pictures of Frank DuPre, suspect in the "gray overcoat" bandit case.

Both are being held at police station on blanket charges of suspicion. Sissions is thought by the police to be wanted in numerous burglaries and holdups. The police also say that he has been arrested a number of times has been arrested a number of times in burglar cases, but that he has never been convicted. The prisoners will be held pending an investigation. Patrolmen Butler and Saunders were walking past the Jackson drug store about 11:15 o'clock when Patrolman Butler recognized Sissions as a man suspicioned in various burglaries and holdups. He walked up to Sissions, laid his hand on Sission's shoulder and felt the mouth of a pistol which was so strapped to the man's body that it pointed upwards and the mouth rested at the shoulder. The pistol when taken from Sissions was rates are being slowly but stendily forced downward by economic laws which govern their levels. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, argued today before the interstate commerce commission, when that body resumed its inquiry into general level of transportation charges. There is no need but considerable danger, he added, in forcibly decreasing them by government edict at the present time.

Mr. Willard appeared as the first of several railroad presidents who will sum up the case of the common carriers in defense of the existing rate levels. He was preceded by several statisticians who presented masses of figures all tending to prove insufficient earnings from railroad operations during recent months, and meager prospects for appreciable improvement even if present rates are provement even if present rates are maintained.

"What, then, may the public expect?" Mr. Willard said in reviewing the statistical case. "Must it continue to pay existing rates and fares? Is no relief to be expected?

"To assume that such is the case would be in error. In the past American railroads have afforded the chemest transportation service in the worse. American relief workers, who originally cautiously placed the number of probable deaths in the famine area this winter at 2,000,000, now say that 5,000,000 is a low estimate, and many 5,000,000 is a low estimate, and many say the number may reach ten million, or even more. This is possible particularly since the shortage of horses, oxen and camels makes it impossible to reach the more remote sections, and since it is predicted the typhus epidemic probably will be the worse that Russia has ever suffered.

Thursday evening, January 19, the business woman's committee of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, corner Peachtree and North avenue, will hold its regular monthly meeting at the churchhouse. Supper will he served at 6:30 o'clock. This organization, which is composed of the business and professional women of the church, with friends of the work, is making its influence felt along many lines, especially in a social and missionary way, and it is an integral part of the woman's society of the church.

The meeting was to be held this evening, but on account of the death of Mrs. Clem Harris, the beloved chairman, the meeting has been postponed. The Y. W. C. A. basketball team must raise a fund if they are to go out of town to meet competitors in match games this season, so their vaudeville to be presented in the Y. W. gymnasium, Peuchtree Arcade, Saturday night, at 8 o'clock, will be their first appeal to their friends and the general public for generous patronage. The vaudeville will consist of seven numbers. W. B. Griffith, the only man in the cast, will open the performance with a mandoline solo. Two pupils of Miss Isabel Dew will dance, "To a Wild Rose," an interpretive expression of artistic beauty.

Miss Louise Morgan, lyric soprano, will sing "Nancy's Answer." Two of Miss Norine Sears' pupils in aesthetic dancing, Miss Elea Stenger and Miss Mariguerite Fischer will give a reading, to be followed by Patrieia Sanders in a solo dance, "The Letter."

The Y. W. C. A. basketball team will close the program with "Camp Highland What Not," which will consist of stunts and songs that are typical of the girls when at the Y. W. camp at Highland, Ga. The team will close the program with "Camp Morris, Ruth Haynie, Virginia Ashe, is Blanche Lesem, Mabel Kerr, Brown Dallas and the substitutes Mary Glenn and Mary Craddock.

Admission tickets are twenty-five cents each and are on sale at the Y. W. and by the entire vaudeville cast.

Georgia Baptist Hospital time.

The concert will be followed by afternoon tea with the officers of the club forming a hospitality committee. It is probable that Mr. Illingworth will remain to meet the company. All the patrons of the event are invited to remain.

Parties for Miss Wills.

Miss Lillian Wills, of Richmond, Va., the guest of Mrs. Franklin Chalmers, was honor guest at the bridgetea given yesterday by her hostess.

The members of the club include Mrs. Chalmers, Mrs. Robert L. Baker, Mrs. Andrew Garner, Mrs. Robert F. Ingram, Jr., Mrs. George Blanton and Mrs. Everett Cunningham.

Thursday afternoon Miss Evelyn Stephens will entertain eight friends at bridge at her home on Peachtres street complimenting Miss Wills.

Thursday evening this charming guest will be central figure at a theater party given by Willis Everett, Jr. On Tuesday, January 17, Dr. Fred Curtis will be host at a theater party honoring Miss Wills.

The invited guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers, Miss Mary Malone and Earl Daly. Parties for Miss Wills.

At Howard Theater.

Douglas Fairbanks in "Knickerbocker Buckaroo" will be featured at the Howard theater on Saturday morning under the auspices of the better film committee. This is considered one of the best pictures ever made by Douglas Fairbanks, and he is always a great drawing card for children. His wholesome pictures are very much enjoyed.

"Careless America," a picture exploiting the safety first slogan, and explaining various methods of avoiding accidents, is the very appropriate educational film. A Briggs comedy also will be shown.

Miss, Nellie Sullivan's pupils will give a clown dance, featuring the motif of the feature film. Miss Sullivan's own arrangement of these dances assures their success and artistic value.

Little Georgia Naedele, one of the most gifted members of the very young contingent of Atlanta, will give a reading entitled "The Story Book Ball."

A WISE.

A dear old friend of mine is about to enter an old folk's home.

She is to have a pleasant room, she is to go back to the fown where she was brought up and where several of her oldest friends still live, she is to be freed from the struggle to make both ends meet by her work, a task which rising prices, hard times, and her own lessening strength made a losing struggle.

And I am thankful to add that she is very happy over it.

Her attitude makes me admire that woman even more than I always have, and that is saying a good deal.

Not One Atom of False Pride.

She comes from a fine family. I doubt if one of them ever went to an old folks home before, but she has not one atom of false pride.

She knows that she has done her share of the world's work, that she has never faltered before hard work or work of any sort that she was able to do. She knows that as a girl she gave many of the productive years of her life to taking care of an invalid mother. Had she worked at any other work as hard, and stinted herself as strictly, as she did in those years she might have sayed enough money so that she would not have had to go into the old folks home. But she did her duty then and the world owes her care now.

We Can't Always Predict.

I do not say I should like it, and perhaps if it happened I should feel shame, too. Our feelings are not always governed by reason. But I don't think I would have any reason to.

And I don't think anyone who accepts help in time of need ought to feel shy sense of shame provided that when they were able they had done all they could to help themselves. In fact, I think there are times when it is very wrong not to accept help and Taking What Belongs to Her.

over to it), she is merely taking what is her right—help from others just as she gave help to others.

I heard of a case the other day of a woman who could not get a job in her regular line of work and who, rather. than take a housework job (which she was perfectly able to handle), let her mother go to the almshouse. That's the opposite of this state of mind. That woman had every weason to be ashamed, far more than if she had taken a housework position.

I have always claimed that I should not be ashamed to go to the poornouse provided that I had not been afraid to do my duty to those who needed my help, had worked hard, and saved what I should. Then it some misfortune landed me in the poorhouse I should not blame myself, and hence would not need to be ashamed.

A good broom is a rather expensive housefold tool. Therefore if we can do anything to prolong its life it is well worth the little extra time and energy. If you will dip your broom into boiling soapsuds for a few mintes every week you will find that it will last much longer. Ends Stubborn Coughs

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal, Easily and cheaply prepared,

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loseens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

That is the thought so often expressed in letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These women know what they have suffered, they describe their symptoms and state how they were finally made well.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine made from medicinal roots and herbs, and without drugs, to relieve the sickness women so often have, which is indicated by backache, weak feelings, nervousness, and no ambition to get anything done or to go anywhere. So this Chat today is written particularly for masculine readers. Now a common masculine affliction is baldness, which is quite unnecessary if a man only knew how to stop it in time. When the actual roots of the hair die, there is of course no hope of growing new hair over a bald spot. But it takes more years than you think to kill the roots, and it is not until the bald part of the scalp is as hard and smooth as a piece of polished glass that one should give up hope of growing new hair.

A friend of mine came to me last summer for the Pilocarpine hair tonic. She had it made up and had her husband use it. He was a fairly young man and was rapidly getting bald, and because of this he looked ten years older than his actual age. Shortly after the formula they moved away

The decision to promote Caruso memorial concerts was in answer to a request from Colonel W. L. Peel, southern member of the Caruso Memorial foundation. Miss Stephens announced that similar memorials could also be arranged by the federated music clubs in the three other states from the South Atlantic district.

The board agreed to disseminate literature through the federated clubs concerning the April season of grand opera in Atlanta. It was a happy circumstance that the motion to take this action was seconded by Mrs. Lane, member of the board from Macon, which has its own annual music festival.

ceded Mrs. Lyons as the head of national body, may attend.

Features of the state convention will be a program devoted to the work of Georgia composers, and the junior music contest, which is sponsored by the national federation. In addition to the piano and violin contests hitherto conducted, there will be added this year a voice contest.

The district meeting and contest will be held in Miami immediately after the Georgia meeting, when the state women in Georgia will compete with the winners from the other states of the district. The district winners will take part later in a national contest and the award to the national winners will be exceptionally worth while, including not only worth while, including not only prizes, but the opportunity for schol-arships with the most noted teach-ers in the country and concert eners in the country and concert engagements.

Biennial in Asheville.

Plans are also being formulated by the Georgia board for its part in the entertainment of the biennial of the national federation. This is dated for June. 1923, but since it takes place within the South Atlantic district—in Asheville, N. C.—work is already beginning in order that all the states of this district may make the best showing possible in number of clubs federated and in program contributions.

A state orchestra was one of the plans suggested in the Georgia board meeting. Groups of musicians, both from the senior and junior clubs would be trained at home in the same selections, and then be brought together for combined rehearsal at the state meeting and then at the biennial.

state meeting and then at the best nial.

Mrs. T. J. Durrett, who extended the invitation from Cordele for the state convention, named the three Music clubs of her city as the hostess clubs. They are the Cordele Symphony club, the Symphonia club (made up of young ladies), and the Junior Symphony. They are planning combined work in an orchestra.

They are planning combined work in an orchestra.

Among the movements of public interest which were discussed or acted upon at the board meeting it proposed legislation looking to the establishment of the office of state supervisor of music in the schools, and the creation of a sentiment for music credits in the schools; the encouragement in all federated clubs of student aid loans, like those being started by the Hijeckhac lub, of Macon; the entension of junior work, which has its highest expression in the work of Atlanta's Junior Music club, and the encouragement of musical composition by Georment of musical composition by Georgians, with the provision of public opportunity for hearings of these compositions.

These small capes rule the world of fashion if one judges by the outpouring of them. They are substitutes for top coats by all those who are not afraid of their protective qualities, they are worn in the evening almost to the exclusion of another kind of wrap, they are put as backgrounds to the new spring frocks that go south and return north with an air of freshness as if to say "here we are, brand new, just out of tissne paper." A neat fib, this, but women are so mentally adjusted that whenever a fashion appears at the exact moment the climate demands it, they are insistent that it has just arrived. It is for such reasons that a clever editor of a women's magazine says it is quite as bad to be in front of the fashion as behind it.

"Have a heart," begged the girl, smiling thinly as she buttoned and unbuttoned her gloves.

Mr. Jarrold was delighted he had not crushed all the breath out of the little mouse at the first pawing.

"Would you believe it, Mr. Hendrickson, I tried yesterday to get hold of our order clerk for an hour or more. ## SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush this through faded, streaked locks and they become dark, glossy, youthful.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and justre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, impreved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray lair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes remutifully dark, glossy and attractive.

WHAT'S WHAT

By Helen Decie

The quick modern method of "hot-latter dinner" is gaining approval in any households where each dinner is sent in from the kitchen on its own hot plate. But, wherever the older cus-tom of passing dishes still prevails at a family table, the mother and father have the first helping, then the dishes have the first helping, then the dishes are passed to the juniors. Meat is frequently served alone on the heated plates after the soup plates have been removed from each place. Salad, also, may be in individual dishes, so that it is necessary to pass only the vegetables, the bread and the condiments.

The usual form of request for passing sauce, relishes, seasoning, etc., is, "May I trouble you for the vinegar?" (for instance). But, where everyone at the table pays attention to the with Georgia Tech's quint, which will take place here Saturday night. In the B. A. C. game some of the highest type of basketball ever seen here was witnessed, proving the fact that a new era in the winter game has now arrived at the university. Basketball has now established its place along with football and baseball in the interest of the fans.

The mid-year examinations which are now in progress at the university are seriously interfering with practice this week, which is made more serious because of the game with Tech sched-uled for Saturday night. However,

Very rarely did the freshmen carry the ball through the network, and when they did, they were usually stopped before the basket had been rung. Defense in basketball, as in football, is more than half the game. The Tech High basketball five defeated the Agoga quintet on the Boys' High court Wednesday night in one basket and then allow the opponents, to shoot two? Since none of the fellows on the team is a remarkable shot, it behooves them to build up a good defense, which they have done ood defense, which they have done.

Both teams cut up like regular folks, and had a good time. And then came the varsity again against the elephants. All the members of the elephant team brought horseshoes to practice, and were able, due to the effect of the horeshoes, to give the varsity a nice scrap. The varsity won the game by about four points.

The long-distance shooting of Richardson was the feature of the game. Time after time he would be open in the center of the court, and no way to the content of the goal, because the Agoga team was using the five-man defense. New Orleans, January 11.—A hay loft opposite the fair grounds race track, a pair of field glasses and a telephone connected with New York played the leading role in the arrest of two men today when a lone policeman raided a barn in the rear of a residence on Encampment street.

According to the police, the men gave their names as John Tracey, of New Orleans, and John Butler who is registered at a local hotel.

Telephone wires leading to the hayloft aroused the suspicions of Police Corporal Hattier, statjoned at the track. As the last race was being finished today Hattier climbed into the haylof and reported that he found one of the men had field glasses on the horses while the other was at the telephone in communication with New York.

Financial Mystery Is Solved BY FUZZY WOODRUFF L. W. Robert Identity Bared

Inconspiciously jammed in a list of captains of industry of Atlanta elected, re-elected, appointed or variously chosen to the boards of directors of Atlanta's banks yesterday was the name of L. W. Robert, Jr., with the explanatory sentence that the aforemetioned L. W. Robert, Jr., had been elected a director of the Fourth National bank, a Gibraltar or Verdun or something else impregnable of Atlanta finance.

In reading the list, Atlantans paused Boys' High is not known, but the following line-up will, in all probability, take the floor when the signal is given for the start of the game: Speer and O'Dwyer, forwards; Palmer, at center; Slate and Gibbs, at guards. Roane, Brown and Matheson, all will probably get a chance to play part of the game.

Rome High has been practicing hard for several weeks now, under the direction of Coach Brewer, and he are Stevenson, Kane, Tippin, Mitchell, Alexander and Hull. Bob Wilson will referee.

HERE IS THE GREAT DISCLOSURE

For—now here is the disclosure—
L. W. Robert, Jr., is none other than Chip Robert—by gosh, why didn't I think of that before; of course it's Chip.
Wherefrom many lessons may be drawn. For you can lay to it that Chip Robert was not elected a member of the board of directors of the Fourth National bank because he had a nick-name and because he has an immense personal popularity around Atlanta and because he has worked in season if cations not only throughout the entire south, but to every section of the country.

The Fourth National bank people did know this, though, and accordingly controlled to the board of directors and I guess we'll have to start calling Chip 'Mr. Robert' or 'Mr. L. W." or 'Mr. Something,' especially if we should start out on a campaign or a crusade of change, is not improbable for the near and immediate future.

On the Screen of Sport by Hugh & Fulletion

One of the tremendous develo in sport has been the spread of football throughout the south. Dixie never has been a great baseball section, although perhaps it has more real sportsmen and sport lovers in propor-tion to population than anywhere else in the United States. Conditions were always against baseball—climate, the always against baseball—climate, the fact that it was a Yankee game, and, worse than that, the fact that for many years the southern cities were the chief sporting grounds of northern promoters. The southern cities that tried baseball for many years drew a bad class of northern professional players. I have seen the game ruined in many places by the rowdyism and worse of cheap professionals. Naturally they drew the elements, and the real people refused to patronize the sport, and, as the real people had the money, it could not prosper.

Besides that it goes a long way toward bringing the best there is out of every player, and may explain some of the remarkable performances of the southern teams, which, inspired to do more than their best, have upset the dope so often.

The pretty idea is that each football team shall select its "sponsor." The girls, wearing the colors of their players, as the women of Arthur's court wore the ribbons of their champions in the joust, gather on the side

Memphis, Tenn., January 11.—The liability of a bank under the negotiable instrument act for the action of a former official in cashing drafts for bonds alleged to have been stolen was made the issue in a suit filed in federal court here today by members of the New York brokerage firm of Kean, Taylor and commany, assinst the Na-the New York brokerage firm of Kean, Taylor and company, against the National City bank, of this city, for $154,714.

The suit, an aftermath of the marketing here about a year ago of a block of Liberty bonds said to have been stolen in a holdup in Brocklyn, was based on the contention that the bank was negligent in permitting one of its former vice presidents, W. Li, Huntley, Jr., to have cashed certain drafts given in exchange for bonds alleged to have been stolen in the Brooklyn holdup.

Huntley was indicted on a charge of receiving stolen property, but was acquitted. He severed his connection with the bank before the indictment with the bank before the indictment was returned.

C. W. Thompson, president of the National City bank, issued a statement today vigorously denying that the bank was in any way involved in the transaction alleged in the suit and asserted that the allegation that the bank was guilty of bad faith in connection with the cashing of the drafts was without foundation.

Mr. Hastings' Statement
Folowing is his statement in full:
"To note Mr. J. L. Phillips' trade in the hands of or post of the situation in Atlanta and in Georgia requires comment, however. The veiled charged is that if I should have any say so as to the Atlanta postoffice or Georgia postoffices that there would be crookedness in favor of my personal business institution. The Atlanta postoffice is the visit is should favor for its in master in Atlanta who will give my business and every other man's business and every other man and have and it is an interest of this city. The Atlanta office is too big an institution to the humblest employee. It is an intimation that all of them are susceptible and in one way of another can be induced to violate postal rules and regulations in favor of individuals and firms.

"There is only one thing I ask or can ask of the Atlanta office and that is postal service of the best character. It's exactly what every other man and business wants and is entitled to have and it is the one thing they will not get if Mr. Phillips succeeds in putting over an appointment for this office he is reported as desiring.

Rheumatism is a direct result of lating through the system, eventually foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

New York, January 11.-The cotton market was nervous and unsettled again today, but about half an early decline was recovered in the late trading, with March closing at 17.82, after having sold at 17.62, or 38 points net lower, and 158 points below the high price touched at the beginning of last week. The general market showed a net loss of 19 to 39 points at the lowest level of the day, and closed steady at a net decline of 5 to 21

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 1 to 14 points, owing to easy late cables from Liverpool and continued talk of an easing spot basis in tinued talk of an easing spot basis in the south There was covering and some trade buying on a scale down which checked the decine at 17.75 for March, and caused moderate rallies, but the bulges met increased offerings and the market soon turned weaker.

The south seemed to be selling more cotton here in proportion to the total business than previously, which tended to color the talk of an easing spot basis, and the market was very weak during the early afternoon, with January selling off to 17.72 and May to 17.26. Stop loss orders were uncovered on this break and, after their exercise the source of the source 17.26. Stop loss orders were uncovered on this break and, after their execution, prices were steadier on cov-

There was also some trade buying and scattered buying for a rally early in the afternoon, with last prices showing recoveries of 18 or 20 points from the lowest. The early cables from Liverpool were relatively steady, but the market there broke sharply after the local opening and there were reports of a less favorable tone in Manchester.

No change was noted in advices change was noted in advices No change was noted in advices from the domestic cotton goods market, and spinners were credited with fixing prices on considerable cotton on a scale down. Except for this and covering, there appeared to be very little demand, and local brokers attributed the decline chiefly to fear of spot liquidation in the south. The private wire service was slowed down to some extent by the storm, which had a retricting effect on the volume of general business.

DECLINE CONTINUES AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, January 11.—The de-line continued in cotton today and prices made new low levels for the downward movement that has been under way of late. Brokers generally had no reasons to give for the selling except that it was the expression of except that it was the expression of the belief that further liquidation, not only in cotton but in other markets had yet to come. The opening was lower and the market sagged until after the middle of the morning, standing at its lowest 25 to 43 points under the close of yesterday. October der the close of yesterday. October received less selling pressure than the old crops. In the afternoon session shorts took profits and moderate recoveries were caused by the buying, the class showing net losses of 15 to 28 points. March sold down to 16.62 and closed at 16.76.

While professional traders still did while professional traders still did much of the selling, going short, liqui-dation of long contracts appeared to be on a fairly large scale and brokers be on a fairly large scale and brokers in the interior wired in that the country was beginning to sell contracts in rather a large way. The poor cables had much to do with the weakness on the opening call and cablegrams from Liverpool during the day spoke in a pessimistic manner of Manchester trade prospects.

Bullish news had little effect, although there was much favorable comment concerning the continued weakness of money and the further rise in bonds.

New York, January 11 .- Funded issues dominated today's operations on the stock exchange, transactions in bonds, mainly at higher levels, being relatively much in excess of dealings in the share list.

Liberty and Victory bonds were the outstanding features. Their extension accumulation aggregated about 65 per cent of the total turnover, which approximated $27,500,000 par value. All the domestic war issues, except the Liberty third 4 1-4s, registered highest prices for a year or more at extreme advances of 16c to $1.20 per $100, the tax exempt 3 1-2s making the greatest gain.

The stock market strengthened grad-ually after its irregular opening, but dealings were materially reduced by the storm, which interrupted the busi-ness of commission houses having wire connections with western points.

Oils, rails, metals and food specialties were among the strongest features, their occasional activity being attrib-uted to professional interests. Heavi-ness was confined to several of the better known steels and equipments and various miscellaneous issues. Apart from the maintenance of call money rates at 3 1-2 per cent, as against the recent minimum rate of 3 per cent, conditions in the money market were unaltered. Contrary to expectations in many quarters, no change was made in rediscounts and interest was made in rediscounts and interest rates by the local federal reserve bank. Trading in foreign exchange was on a limited scale, and at rates slightly lower for British, French ond most other foreign bills, Scandinavian quotations also easing.

Railroad bonds followed the pace set by government issues. Atchison, Great Northern, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, New York Central, Reading and other issues of more speculative character were higher by fractions to 1 1-2 points. Domestic inquistrials hardened, but internationals were ir-

JANUARY 24-25

Athens, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—The state Farm Bureau federation, of Georgia, will hold its annual convention in Athens at the State College of Agriculture January 24-25, according to County Agent Jones Purcell in a statement made Tuesday morning. The farm bureau of Georgia is composed of several hundred members who will be in Athens attending the an-nual convention, which is to be a part of the Georgia markets conference which meets at the State College of Agriculture January 23-28. The farm bureau convention itself

The farm bureau convention itself will last only two days, according to announcements made Tuesday, but it is thought that the majority of the delegates coming to Athens for it, will remain throughout the five-day session of the Georgia market conference, which promises to be the biggest convention of its kind ever staged in Georgia.

vention of its kind ever staged in Georgia.

County Agent Jones Purcell, and members of the Clarke county farm bureau, are already making plans for the entertainment of the delegates from the state organization, Mr. Purcell told reporters Tuesday. It is thought that several social functions will be given in honor of the hundreds of guests who will be in Athens these days.

RAILWAY COMPANY AND CITY AT ODDS

Macon, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—City attorney Harry S. Strosler announced today that he will take the necessary legal steps within a few days to attempt to compel the Macon Railway and Light company to follow out the instructions of city council to restore the two-way street car service on the long belt line. In the meantime, it is understood, he is in communication with the company, officially informing the company of the proposed move.

Chicago, January 11.—Wheat scored a material advance in price to-day, helped by gossip that foreigners were purchasing future deliveries and that a large export business in flour was under way. Wheat closed strong at 15-8 to 21-8c net higher. Corn gained 1-2@5-8 to 5-8@3-4c; oats 1-2@5-8 to 7-8 and provisions 10 to 15 cents.

Strength in the wheat market at first was based to a considerable ex-tent on the fact that no confirmation tent on the fact that no confirmation had been obtained for yesterday's reports that several French banks were in trouble. Such reports were further discedited by firmness in Liverpool quotations and by signs that European interests had taken at least temporarily to the bull side of the wheat market here. Subsequently, reports became current that export sales of flour would total 200,000 barrels practically, cleaning up so-called distressed holdings of flour. It was also asserted that a better call for flour was evident from the south and from New England.

Heavy Trade in Bonds Holds Street's Attention

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, January 11.—A snowsform turned into sleet around noon accompanied by heavy winds putting western wires out of commission. All of this week the heaviest selling has been from the west. Today trading on the stock exchange was light but prices held firm, many pool shares showing substantial advances. The real feature of the day was heavy trading in bonds, especially the government issues, practically all of which made new high records for the year, some for all time. There has been considerable switching from the 3%s into these paying a higher interest rate. Today the fourth the 3½s into these paying a higher interest rate. Today the fourth 4s made a new high record, $16.20 above the low despite the fact that

Easier money and expectations of a lower rediscount rate here with reductions for all of the other banks were behind today's active trading in bonds. Call money renewed at 3½ per cent and time money was abundant at 4% for all periods, secured by mixed railroad and industrial collateral and 4½ for all rail collateral. Frozen credits are thawing in Atlanta, Dallas, Minneapolis, Kansas City, bankers here report. It was pointed out that for the past two weeks there has been no inter-reserve borrowing between federal reserve banks, which means a strengthened banking position. The market for bills of acceptances, it was stated, was much easier with some dealers offering bills as low as 3% per cent, the lowest in four years. There is also a mand from out-of-town banks for bank acceptances

Lackawanna Steel was to have issued its quarterly report for December today, which would have completed the statement for the year, but it was decided, so Wall Street heard, to withhold the report until later, probably next month.

Today's Iron Age says that with inventory taking still going on little was expected in the trade for the first half of January and hence there has been no disappointment over the inactivity of the past ten days. Operations were reported as slightly below the average for December, the steel corporation dropping to from 46 to 47 per cent of capacity against 49 last month, with the independents down to 28 Order for Cars.

GOVERNOR URGES TAX SYSTEM REFORMATION

Columbia, S. C., January 11.— Reformation of a tax system that is out of date, was urged on the South Carolina legislature in strong language today by Governor Cooper, who delivered in person his annual mes-sage, challenging the state solons to the task of reducing the tax burden in the state without crippling the state government. state government.

The government.
The governor urged the enactment f a gasoline tax of one or two cents gallon; a state income tax; an ineritance tax; an occupation and busi ness privilege tax; a tax on luxuries and a tax on hydro-electric power. He also urged a constitutional amendment to allow the state to classify property for "axation and pleaded for a continued interest in education.

Great Russian Pianist Enthuses Large Audience

One of the largest audiences of the season heard Sergei Hachmaninoff in recital at the Auditorium last night, and he stirred his hearers to an enthusiasm scarcely less than that which greeted his former visit two years ago, although his program on the former occasion was more interesting. During that two years he has proven that the artificial sensationalism surrounding the refugee artist from chaotic Russia had little to do with the great hold he took immediately upon the people of America, for after being three years a resident of this country he still holds his own against many sensational newcomers.

The bulk of his performance last night made it easy to see why, although one wondered at first his reason for playing the Weber-Tausig "Invitation to the Dance," outworn as it is by custom and style, while the Sonata Pathetique of Beethoven, which opened his program, somehow, and the work of them behind the scenes to persuade him to come once again and to play the prelude which was on his program here two years ago.

When he reached the Weber "Invitation," however, with its elaborate furbishing up at the hands of Tausig, he so imbued it with new life and brilliance that some of his hearers were almost reconciled to his not playing something else instead, while others gave it a rousing reception that

After leaving the Rotary club I covered other assignments including my regular run of the state capitol and returned to the office of The and returned to the office of The Constitution about 5 o'clock. At the ings from the afternoon papers given for consideration in reporting assign ments. To my surprise I found that one of the afternoon papers had print-ed an article about the speeches or Mr. Morgan and Mr. Foreman.

In the report in the afternoon paper I observed that the speeches of both Mr. Foreman and Mr. Morgan were given at some length. The afternoon paper article was "re-witten" for The Constitution and The Constitution did not print anything of any kind that was not the afternoon paper's article. In fact the afternoon paper on the following day, Wednesday, again ran the same story it printed in its "pink" edition on the afternoon before.

Mr. Morgan's Statement.

The statement issued by Mr. Morgan Wednesday was as follows:

I made no attack on the police department and said not one word contained in the following extract from The Constitution of Wednesday morning:

"The last vestige of doubt that gross inefficiency exists in the police department has disappeared," he declared. "It is high time for the public to arise and demand its legal protection and to brand both the police and detective departments as the incompetent machines they are."

The following is an accurate and complete account of my remarks:

"I was very much interested in all that Lauren Foreman had to say with reference to the finding of a verdict by the coroner's jury and I was particularly surprised to the finding of a verdict by the coroner's jury and I was particularly surprised to the finding of a verdict by the coroner's jury and the stime of sucide.

Miami, Fla., January 11.—Charles Weston, aided by cupid, today won out in a race against time for the possession of an English estate and an annuity of $5,000, when he and Mrs. Mary C. Vantine were married.

Two weeks ago Weston, a painter, was notified by a British law firm "that Mrs. Weston" had been left an annual income of $5,000, $20,000 in cash and an estate of 140 acres in Devonshire, England, by an old friend. Weston's wife having died two years ago, he was advised that he could claim the money only by remarrying before February 1, 1922.

After a newspaper story appeared telling of the situation, he received over 50 applications in two days to become Mrs. Weston.

Weston's bride is herself well-to-do, having property valued at $50,000, and is marrying she says for commanden.
